

INTERNATIONAL FLIGHT

This happened on the 7th of January, just after the Christmas break finished. A group of strangers went to the Airport of Barcelona to return to their countries after having enjoyed their holidays. Although they were sad to return to their normal scheduled lives, they were glad to have created several memories.

On their way to catch the flight, they suddenly heard a voice who yelled this announcement: "A terrorist attack has been committed nearby the airport so we have cancelled all the flights and the building will be locked for your safety".

The first reaction to the message was an angry German man trying to exit the airport. He shouted nonsense to the guardians:

— Let me get out of this prison or I will hit you with my beers! — he continued whining.

Answering to this action a Mexican old man with a great moustache appeared from nowhere to try to calm the German.

— Let's calm down and eat some tacos, my friend. — blurted out in a hippie vibe.

Finally a Japanese business man was the only one who dared to lead the group.

— We must organize ourselves in order to prepare us to spend the night here! — he said in a proud way.

After the short speech, a group of Italian tourists offered pasta dishes for everyone, and a Spanish woman who fell asleep because of the boring situation, was assigned to set the place where they were going to spend the night.

At the end the story had a happy ending. In spite of the strange journey they had to share, the next day they all were able to catch a flight to get to their homes safely.
